Martin Churm

I am Broadline Audit Manager for Brakes Foodservices in Kent; primarily responsible for controls assessment of the central business functions operated from the Ashford Head Office. Prior to Brakes I spent over 2 years working for Barclays in London providing specialist audit and risk consultancy over outsourced business operations across the globe. This role combined my skills and experience gained from a number of years managing major outsourced IT arrangements with various suppliers and managing procurement functions in both the Travel and Financial Services Industries and over 5 years internal audit experience gained in various internal audit roles within Financial Services.
